Introduction

The New Mexico Office of Broadband Access and Expansion (OBAE) is accepting prequalification applications for the BEAD program. This process enables prospective applicants to establish their qualifications and capabilities to plan, finance, deploy, and maintain broadband networks while driving commercial success and adhering to all legal and regulatory requirements. OBAE aims to prequalify prospective applicants in advance of accepting applications later this year.

Note that the Prequalification Phase evaluates entities intending to apply for BEAD funds and not their projects. Prequalified entities must submit their applications for scoring in the competitive process described in the Scoring Phase. The Scoring Phase will evaluate the merits of their applications based on the framework designated in OBAE's Initial Proposal, Volume II (IPV2).

Objectives of the Prequalification Phase

The Prequalification Phase serves several critical purposes. First, it filters out potential applicants who do not meet the minimum criteria, ensuring OBAE will only evaluate applications from organizations that meet federal and state requirements and are most likely to achieve the objectives of the BEAD Program. This will enable OBAE to efficiently manage its resources during the limited time available for the Scoring and Negotiation Phases.

Second, it allocates a dedicated period to allow OBAE to evaluate qualifications and address open issues, which in turn allows prospective applicants to later focus on developing strong proposals, knowing that their qualifications have already been reviewed and accepted. Given the rigorous and robust documentation requirements for BEAD, a prequalification process will enable prospective applicants to spread their grant application efforts across a lengthier timeline.

Third, a prequalification process will enable adequate curing opportunity by providing additional time for OBAE to request clarifications and additional information from prospective applicants. With an earlier qualification process, this curing need not take place at the same time as curing the proposed project applications themselves, which will be an enormous undertaking in and of itself.

Prequalification Factors

The BEAD Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) requires the State to ensure that all prospective subgrantees can competently carry out activities funded by the subgrant in compliance with all applicable laws and meet certain cybersecurity and supply-chain risk management best practices. The BEAD NOFO further specifies seven additional types of qualifications Eligible Entities must evaluate in potential subgrantees:

- A) Financial Capability
- B) Managerial Capability
- C) Technical Capability
- D) Compliance With Laws
- E) Operational Capability
- F) Ownership
- G) Other Public Funding

Confidentiality

As a government agency, OBAE is subject to, and acts in compliance with, the Inspection of Public Records Act (“IPRA”), NMSA Section 14-2-1 et. seq. Though OBAE is authorized to maintain the confidentiality of grant materials during the application and review process, upon issuance of awards, materials in OBAE’s possession shall be made available for public inspection.

If any applicant or subgrantee has reason to believe that information requested by OBAE during this process is exempt from disclosure under IPRA (see, NMSA Section 14-2-1), OBAE has implemented a confidentiality request process. The confidentiality request form can be accessed online at the Connect NM website.
